New York — 212.451.2951

Alexander H. Hyder represents domestic and international insurers in complex coverage litigation arising from claims under commercial property and commercial general liability policies.

Prior to joining Robinson+Cole, Alex was associated with a New York-based law firm where he handled an array of complex litigation matters, including reinsurance litigation and arbitrations, surety claims and litigation, and commercial property claims and coverage litigation in both state and federal courts. Prior to entering private practice, Alex served as a judicial clerk at the Connecticut Appellate Court for the Honorable Alexandra D. DiPentima, Chief Judge of the Appellate Court, and the Honorable Joan K. Alexander, now a Justice of the Connecticut Supreme Court.

Alex graduated from the University of Connecticut School of Law, with honors, where he was Managing Editor of the Connecticut Insurance Law Journal. During law school he interned at the United States Attorney's Office, District of Connecticut. He also served as a student practitioner in UConn Law's Criminal Appellate Clinic, where he represented indigent defendants in post-conviction litigation. Alex received the CALI Excellence Award for his service in the clinic, as well as in Criminal Law and Principles of Insurance.
