Julianne M. Desmet focuses her practice on energy regulatory representation and counseling. She provides her clients with guidance on legal issues regarding energy supply, energy regulation, energy transactions, and energy project development.

Julie monitors and reports on regulatory developments, provides compliance counseling, and represents clients in regulatory proceedings. She has a strong background in legal strategy formulation, case management, and litigation, and is skilled at analyzing complex legal issues.

Julie served as a hearing officer for the Massachusetts Department of Public Utilities and as an attorney in the New Hampshire Office of the Consumer Advocate, where she gained deep experience in regulatory compliance, cost structures, and risk mitigation. Today, Julie leverages this insight to help businesses anticipate regulatory challenges, optimize operations, and turn compliance into a competitive advantage.
