Robinson+Cole

Kaleigh Kenny

Associate

kkenny@rc.com

New York — 212.451.2927

Kaleigh Kenny advises lenders on affordable housing finance and real estate transactions involving governmental entities, tax-exempt bonds, and tax credit equity.

Drawing on both in-house and private-practice experience, Kaleigh brings a practical perspective to affordable housing and real estate financing. As Assistant General Counsel at Local Initiatives Support Corporation (LISC), she independently closed loans financing the construction and preservation of affordable housing. In private practice, she represented lenders in transactions financing the development and acquisition of commercial real estate and multifamily properties.

Kaleigh's affordable housing experience also includes an internship with the New York City Housing Development Corporation, where she assisted with financing commitments and regulatory agreement amendments for affordable housing construction and rehabilitation projects. She also held research and project management roles with research groups focused on economic development in low- and middle-income countries.

Services

- Real Estate + Development
- Affordable Housing + Finance

Education

- University of California, Los Angeles - School of Law (Juris Doctor)
  - Disability Law Journal
  - Research Assistant
  - Community Economic Development Clinic
- Williams College (Bachelors)
  - B.A., Economics and Chinese

Admissions

- State of New York