New York — 212.451.2912

Shuqi Mao focuses her practice on corporate finance, corporate governance, and securities law. She advises domestic and foreign issuers, underwriters and/or investors on both private and public capital markets transactions. Shuqi counsels U.S. public companies with respect to regulatory compliance, periodic reporting obligations, and other general corporate matters.

Before joining Robinson+Cole, Shuqi practiced at a New York boutique law firm, where she represented issuers, underwriters, and/or investors in a broad range of securities offerings, including initial public offerings (IPOs), follow-on public offerings, uplisting offerings, registered direct offerings, and private investment in public equity (PIPE) transactions.

Her prior experience also includes preparing the registration statements, periodic filings, and other filings under the Securities Act of 1933 and the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, for public companies listed on NASDAQ, NYSE, and over-the-counter markets; corresponding with the SEC, FINRA, and major stock exchanges; and actively engaging with regulators to address and resolve compliance issues. Previously, Shuqi has worked as a legal intern at a global law firm in China.

She is a native Mandarin speaker, and fluent in English, and conversational Japanese.
