Stephanie J. Oppenheim is a litigator in Robinson+Cole's Managed Care + ERISA Litigation and Antitrust + Trade Regulation groups. She represents national and regional health insurers, managed care organizations, and self-funded plans in complex disputes involving ERISA, network agreements, and provider contracting. Her practice also includes litigation related to antitrust issues in the healthcare sector, including matters involving consolidation, competition, and regulatory compliance.

Stephanie brings a collaborative and strategic approach to resolving high-stakes legal matters, drawing on her experience in both private practice and in-house legal departments. Prior to joining Robinson+Cole, she practiced at an Am Law 200 firm, supporting shareholders in health care liability defense and telehealth matters. She also served as a legal intern at Cigna Corporation, where she assisted on mergers and acquisitions, healthcare antitrust, fraud and abuse, general litigation, and HIPAA/HITECH privacy compliance.

Stephanie is also committed to pro bono service and community engagement. She is an active volunteer attorney with Philadelphia VIP, assisting indigent Philadelphians with estate planning, guardianship, and family law matters. Stephanie earned her juris doctor from Villanova University Charles Widger School of Law, where she completed a concentration in Health Law and received the Dorothy Day Award for Pro Bono Service for her commitment to public service.
